

WEClub designed to share your thoughts, journey and experiences to students and entrepreneurs.

Now, sharing our thoughts and expressing them can be difficult, but that's exactly what we're trying to achieve here. What we've done here is building a platform which can make the process of sharing our thoughts among people much simpler. In today's age, nobody relies on information spread by the word of mouth. Our trust lies in the huge repository of information that we all have access to, the internet. So, why not use this method to expound (spread) knowledge on our very own campus.

Previously the events which occurred in the campus all needed you to be personally present to experience and learn from them, but now that's going to change. If you were unable to attend the event, then nothing could be done. If you want to interact with the organizers, the speakers, it wasn't easy. You had to meet with them personally, which, let's face it, isn't always feasible.

What WeClub design does is help those in pursuit of knowledge have a better outlet to express themselves, what they want to learn, what methods of learning they like, listening to experts in their fields speaking.

That's why we developed a platform, through which signing up for events will be much simpler and gaining access to the content of events, even after they've ended will be convenient.

Using this platform student can get the help they want when they need it. It warms me to think I am part of something that is impacting the way entrepreneurs learn and the way entrepreneurs express their thoughts.

I sincerely hope WEclub enhances your experience as a learner, as a entrepreneurs, and as a professional.

Thank you
